a.i. solutions Introduces iPad Application that Creates Personal Emergency Preparedness Plans

Lanham, MD, Oct. 26, 2010 – a.i. solutions has created an iPad application called iMPrepared® to guide users in creating an individual or family emergency preparedness plan and store vital information directly on a mobile device.

iMPrepared helps users plan for disasters with one convenient application. Users can make a secure, central and mobile individual or family preparedness plan that includes contact numbers as well as medical, pet, and insurance policy information. iMPrepared guides users in creating emergency supply kits and also includes a compass, flashlight, disaster RSS feeds, and an S.O.S. signal.

“Government and non-profit organizations alike have been providing emergency preparedness information for several years, but until now, there hasn’t been a mechanism to consolidate all that information in one place,” said Tom Davis, a.i. solutions’ Project Lead for the application. “iMPrepared is a tool that lets users easily organize their own emergency plan and to store vital information securely.”

iMPrepared is now available as a free download in Apple’s iTunes App Store. iMPrepared is intended for use by all individuals, because disaster preparedness leads to community, business, and government resilience in a crisis. Employees who are prepared when an emergency arises will be able to return to work more quickly and help restore and recover economic activity and basic services in their community following a disaster. iMPrepared is specifically recommended to assist federal employees prepare for a disaster, so that the essential functions of the U.S. government may be restored as rapidly as possible.
